Phi Epsilon Honor Society Organized By Phys. Ed. Majors

Formally Recognized by University this Summer

Feeling the need for extra-curricular activity in their chosen field of study, the 1942 Physical Education Teacher preparation group met in the spring of 1941 in a common purpose—that of organizing a physical education society. Under the careful supervision of Mr. Lundholm, the faculty advisor of the group, plans were completed to form a new honorary society which was to be known as Phi Epsilon.

Phi Epsilon was formally recognized by the university during the summer. It is planned to have talks at these meetings by prominent men on subjects related to physical education.

Charter Members

The charter members of Phi Epsilon are Phil Richards, Phil DeGregory, Ed Richardson, George Alimi, Stacey Clark, and Raymond Dupell. Present officers are president, Phil Richards; vice-president, Phil DeGregory; secretary-treasurer, Raymond Dupell. Dwight Richardson has been admitted as a member, which makes him the first member to be added to the original group. Tony Dougal and Paul Sweet have received honorary membership to the society.

Show Combination Rooms in DeMeritt

An exhibition of forty-three designs, each with an accompanying perspective drawing in color and with details, selected from the Annual Competition for 1941, awarded by the American Institute of Decorators, will be shown on the second floor of DeMeritt Hall in the corridor of the Department of Architecture. Opening today, the exhibit, which was shown in Boston in January and February, will continue until October 29.

The design problem of a combination living and dining room was for a family of four—father, mother, son and daughter—with furnishings not to exceed a cost of three thousand dollars. The floor space was limited to six hundred square feet, and a limit of nine feet for the ceiling. Although the student was not limited to design or period, consideration had to be given to modern modes of living.

Night Parking

Students, townspeople, and faculty are asked to cooperate in not parking their cars overnight on the streets of Durham. ..So far there has been much inconvenience because some have been careless.

Do not park your car overnight in the street, abide by traffic rules, and you will save yourself a great deal of trouble.

Seton Hall President Hits Lack of Religion In Modern Education

"A return to religion is necessary in the present world crisis," asserted Monseignor James F. Kelly Ph.D. president of Seton Hall College, in addressing the members of the Newman Club in New Hampshire Hall last Tuesday evening.

Dr. Kelley, noted educator, stressed the fact that religion has been definitely neglected in the present educational system. He stated that a great deal of modern teaching, with its atheistic aspects, has been partially the cause of the terrible conflict that is raging. "If godlessness is right, then

Eleven Members Elected To Alpha Kappa Delta

Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociological fraternity, held a meeting last Monday evening in Morrill Hall. The meeting was presided over by Russell Bissell, president. Election of new members was the main feature of the evening. The following were accepted: Natalie Sutherland, Jeanne Pike, Helen Ober, Ursula Harte, Priscilla Alden, Rosalind Cogger, Robert Rowe, Ray Doyle, and Paul Wheeler. Mr. Mason Record was accepted as an honorary member, and Miss Marion Bennett, a graduate, was also accepted.

This year the AKD's have started a new policy of giving a tea for the prospective initiates thereby allowing the members to become better acquainted with them before voting. A very successful tea was held in the Alumni Room in New Hampshire Hall on Monday afternoon under the direction of Wyntha Tomkins, Doris Trafton, and Maxine Johnson.

Plans were discussed for a formal initiation banquet to be held on October 23.

Sphinx Shuffle Tomorrow Night

Sweet Swing and Jam Feature of New Band

Bernie Ekman's new College Inn Orchestra with smooth swing on the solid side will be the attraction at the Sphinx Shuffle, sponsored by Sphinx Junior Honor Society, to be held tomorrow evening at 8:00 in New Hampshire Hall.

Herbie Smith will be the vocalist with the new orchestra. Another specialty of the evening will be the jam numbers from the band within a band, or the Six Wildcats—Sam Askenazy, Gordon Barnett, Paul Cattabriga, Bob Knight, Nick Leonovitch, and Ray Lobambard.

Fred Saunders, president of Sphinx, is general chairman of the dance, and Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. William Kichline are to be chaperones.

Win MacDonald, orchestra chairman, says, "This promises to be one of the most colorful dances of the fall season, and incidentally, there will be no square dances!"

Annual Dads' Day Coming October 25

Entire Day Devoted to Entertaining of Fathers

One of the high spots on the University calendar is Dads' Day, which will be celebrated next Saturday, October 25. Every minute of the day will be planned for Dads' enjoyment.

Classes will be dismissed at 9 o'clock to enable the students to accompany their Dads on a tour of the campus to observe new developments and improvements, specially prepared exhibits and other interesting activities. The University Regiment will parade on Memorial Field at 11 o'clock. Following this, a luncheon for freshmen students and their Dads will be served in the University Field House. Upperclassmen and their Dads will be served at the University Commons or at luncheons planned by student groups.

Feature Attraction

The feature attraction of the day will be the annual football game at Lewis Field with the University of Vermont, a traditional rival. At this time the Dads will be the guests of the Department of Athletics. Following the game the university domitories and a number of the fraternities and sororities will hold "open house" for the Dads.

It is hoped that this seventeenth annual Dads' Day will be the best one yet and that it will give every Dad a chance to recapture some of the good times of his college days.

Big-Little Sister Picnic Held at Chamberlain's

On Wednesday, October 22, the freshmen girls will be given an opportunity to meet their Big Sisters in very informal surroundings. About 4:45 p.m. all the Big Sisters are requested to collect their little sisters and meet at the tennis courts in front of Scott Hall. From there they will adjourn to the Chamberlain Estate on the Newmarket road.

There are sign-up sheets in every dormitory and all girls planning to attend are requested to register not later than Monday noon. Any freshman girls who do not have Big Sisters are invited to attend also. In case of rain the picnic will be held on Thursday at the same time and place.

Four Locquacious Matadors Toss Official Bull in Ring

In a world shaken by cataclysms of the most tremendous sort, Durham tilts on the black brink of peril. Such conditions call for a strong man to prevent the fall of the city. Dramatically, as the time for the election of Durham's mayor approaches, the mental and physical Atlas rears his giant form across this coastal horizon who can snatch this town from the edge of awful ruin.

Each of you male students has known his sensations— his desires for things (two things) beautiful, his understanding of problems (mobility in the dark over symmetrical surfaces), his delight in conversation at midnight among objects of art on study walls. Each one of you girls has known admiration (ye, even love) for a SUPERMAN of his type. In fact, this candidate's modesty so overcomes his political talents that he declines to be designated except by the name, SUPERMAN.

Special to the New Hampshire:

Four score and ten years ago, our Fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, but it was only today that it was learned that the meddling, malnourished, misfitted, miscapable, mustached Murchie was running for Mayor of Durham. This fact has caused considerable attention in and through said Hamlet, and according to Crockett's campaign of 1940, it should be well known concerning Murchie and his mad managing.

Equals being equals, there is but one way to beat Tuft's at Homecoming. Therefore, I hereby announce my candidacy for the prominent position of Mayor of Durham, using the well phrased motto as a means of spurring on the football team, "Plow right with Plow right!"

Signed,
Thomas Plowright.

Babcock, Barnett Chosen Musical Co-Directors

Because Paul McIntire, chosen as Musical Director of the 1942 Granite Varieties show, has been drafted, Gordon Barnett and Nathan Babcock were elected Tuesday night to fill his place.

Both boys are outstanding not only in campus musical circles but in the other extra-curricular activities as well. Nate, besides being prominent in his work with the band, orchestra, and glee club, is also Music Director for the Mask and Dagger Dramatic Society and president of Phi Mu Delta fraternity. Barney, on the other hand, held a featured position with Jack Mitchell's Orchestra for three years and has recently been influential in the instigation of the new College Inn Orchestra which will make its debut on campus tomorrow night.

Prospective song and script writers are asked to see Director Elwyn Dearborn in Balard 102 Monday night between 7:00 and 9:00 if they desire any assistance in the formulation of their work.

Susan B. Smooth Bureau Opens

Inspired by the recent visit of Nell Giles, a Susan B. Smooth Bureau will open in 109 Ballard Hall at 1:30 and will be open until 3 o'clock. Departments which will assist in this new undertaking are Public Speaking (Mr. Keesey), Home Economics (Miss Moulton), Extension Service (Miss Hill, clothing specialist), and Physical Education (Miss Hoban). The Women's Student Government will sponsor and finance this bureau.

Interviews with the bureau are entirely voluntary and will be private and kept confidential. Special personality charts will be used which are especially prepared by Nell Giles.

Chairman of the "Susan B. Smooth Bureau" is Marjorie Chalmers and assisting her is Barbara Bartlett, a transfer from Stephens College, which has one of the most successful Susan B. Smooth Bureaus in the country.

Nell Giles and such persons as the commercial artist of the "Boston Herald" will be guest consultants every other week.

Hemplar Exhibits European Portfolio at Boston City Club

By Barbara Shepard

When asked how he happened to become an artist, Mr. Orvil Hemplar, recently appointed art instructor here in the department of architecture replied, "I first became interested in painting at the age of six when I used to attend chautauquas. I would always ask for the chalk drawings made by the artists at these festivals." Thus Mr. Hemplar was started upon a career that was to make him one of the outstanding young artists of New England.

Having received his secondary education in his home town of Almena, Kansas, Mr. Hemplar continued his studies at the University of Colorado, where he received his B.A. degree. After graduation he did some assistant teaching in Iowa. In 1938-39 he received the Frank Parsons Fellowship for one year to study in Paris, and shortly after his establishment there he was awarded a scholarship to travel through Italy and paint for a period of two months. While in Europe he bicycled through many countries—Belgium, Holland, England, Germany, and Switzerland—not including those previously mentioned. But his travels were cut short by the outbreak of the war and he was forced to return home. Soon after his arrival here in 1940 he accepted an offer to get his M.A. degree at the University of Iowa, where he obtained valuable training as a student of the famous Grant Wood.

Watercolors on Exhibit

Recently there was an exhibit of Mr. Hemplar's work at the Boston City Club. It was called the "one-man show" by various critics and contained some forty canvases. The paintings were taken from his European portfolio and were done in water colors. Some of the better liked ones were, "Night Scene in Paris," and "Barbizon Forest." He paints in a loose, sketchy style and shows great interest in colors.

Students here will have plenty of opportunity to view Mr. Hemplar's ability because he will help with the stage settings and scenery of the forthcoming productions of Mask and Dagger and Granite Varieties.

All New England Serviced by N. H. Visual Aid Department

One of the newest functions of our university and yet one of the least known among the student body is being carried out par excellence by the General Extension Service. Nevertheless, the oldest project of this service, the Visual Aid department, begun as late as July, 1939, has a noteworthy story to tell. Since its inauguration, which was made possible largely through the efforts of Mr. H. B. Stevens, Director of the General Extension Service, the Visual Aids department has served over three hundred fifty thousand people, and caters not only to this state, but to all of New England.

As might be inferred from its title, this department is concerned with distributing movie material from its Educational Film Library to elementary and public schools throughout the region as well as to various community groups. Each year several thousand shipments are handled, covering a multitude of subjects.

450 Films on Hand

The department has on hand four hundred and fifty films for use by instructors of such subjects as agriculture, social sciences, physical education, and most of the natural and physical sciences. At present, seventy-eight New Hampshire schools and one hundred thirty-four schools from out of state are profiting by the service.

The department is also attentive to the needs of the UNH faculty in the line of visual education material. Last year three hundred and twenty-eight classes on the campus made use of educational films.

While schools form a major portion of the department's clientel, they by no means tell the whole story. Churches, granges, farm bureaus, service clubs and similar organizations pick out their objects of interest from the rack of reels. For their use is a large number of travel films. If projectors are not available, the Visual Aids department is ready to send an operator to the spot to "put on a show".

For assistance in defense education, a number of films have been purchased.

DURHAM, N. H. OCT. 17, 1941

A Word to the Wise

Although this may seem a little early to start writing about the mayoralty campaign, the initial publicity for some of the more progressive candidates appears in this issue of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE so at the same time it may be well to make contestants and non-combatants, alike, aware of what will be expected of them in this year's contest.

There are several distasteful elements which seem to crop out every Fall and which some immature students seem to feel are integral parts of the campaign. This is an entirely erroneous assumption, however. Principal among these harmful features are the throwing of varied assortments of missiles both at campaigners and spectators, and the often times vulgar and frequently off-color stories told by nominees seeking office.

It does not seem necessary to warn college students about either of these evils. Anyone can well realize the danger of injury to people and property if struck by solid articles of fruit and vegetables. Dirty stories have no place in the mayoralty campaign, especially at a coeducational institution such as ours. The members of the audience are always embarassed, to say the least, by such obscene outbursts and it is rarely the candidate who has resorted to this type of cheap entertainment who is successful at the polls in the final balloting.

With the proper type of cooperation from all quarters this year's contest can be one of the most entertaining and enjoyable and at the same time one of the least objectionable.

Student Council News

The Council held its last meeting at the home of Dean Alexander on Strafford Ave. Extension on Monday evening. A lengthy business meeting and discussion period followed a hearty supper.

John Davis was appointed to make all arrangements for painting the voting booth which will be done by members.

It was voted to send President Ray Doyle to a conference on "Colleges and National Defense" at Wellesley on Monday, November 10. It is also expected that Women's Student Government and the University administration will send representatives.

A U. S. O. benefit reception and dance which will be held in New Hampshire hall on the last Wednesday evening in the month was discussed.

Standards in many phases of campus life were discussed in relation to what the Council can do to raise and enforce them. New duties which the Council may be able to assume were mentioned by various members and considered.

At the conclusion of the meeting a team consisting of John Davis, Hal Monica, Dick Cook, and captained by team of Dean Alexander, Carl Carlson, Sid Dimond, and Don Crafts in the tenth inning of an indoor baseball game.

Record Made by All Engineering Graduates

It seems that the best advice one could give students hoping for work after graduation is "Studying Engineering." Sufficient proof is found in the fact that every engineering student who was graduated from the university in 1940 is now gainfully employed or is working for an advanced degree. For the most part the people are doing work in lines closest to their college studies. Seventy-six per cent are now in positions for which they were specifically trained.

A close runner-up in the employment record is the Agricultural College. Only one member of the group is unemployed at this time.

The graduates from the College of Liberal Arts have not been as successful. Only eighty-four per cent are working or studying. Thirty-nine per cent of those who studied in the Liberal Arts College are now in work related to their college studies. Compared to this, a little more than fifty per cent of the agricultural graduates are doing work for which they trained in college.

Gorman Block . . . . . Durham

To the Editor

To the Editor:

I am about to propose a plan that should revolutionize our university. It is a simple little plan which much to my surprise seems to have been neglected by the brilliant minds who constructed the buildings of U. N. H. Do not let its simplicity disarm you! Don't shrug it off with a "pish-posh, that's easy!" For the difficulties in this vital matter although they are hidden are nevertheless there wrapped in their somber robes under which lie the powers that be.

Before I state my case I wish it understood that although other rebels have burned at the stake for similar uprisings no torture, no man-made pain, could equal the burning anguish which consumes me at the thought of this great wrong. Therefore I am unafraid.

I propose:

1. That a committee be selected by a student vote held in the usual manner, to go as a representative body of this university, to the state house where sits the legislature to present the case as it stands.

2. That the legislature, having heard all the evidence, be allotted three days to consider it and then to render their verdict

3. That the representatives (of the school) ask for one thing, namely a mirror, not more than eight inches long or eight inches wide and not to exceed the amount of 28c; said mirror, to occupy a position of prominence in men's locker room of the Field House; that the mirror have no defects or cracks in the glass; that it be available to all, regardless of race, religion, or color; that the evidence for the case be garnered from the exclamations of sophomores and freshmen taking a course commonly called phys. ed. while they are standing blind and enraged in a semi-dark room whose cement construction affords not the slightest glimmer of reflected light; that if the appropriation is made, further appropriations be made to establish police force of 200 men during the first week of the mirror's use, whose function it shall be to keep law and order in said Field House during the first week of the turmoil that will result when alumni and students flock from the remotest parts of the world to see the new addition to U. N. H.

This proposition is made while I am yet in sane mind and sound body and full of the strength of my convictions.

I remain, awaiting trial, a martyr towards whom none should feel any pity, for I could not find peace on this earth were I was not sacrificing myself towards this great cause. I think I hear the Gestppo coming now so I am going to end my missive knowing that in the interest of the school you will print this letter regardless of the consequences.

You are my last hope,
Sincerely yours,
Paul Riesling.

Lens and Shutter Sponsors Contest

Lens and Shutter club's first event of the year which is open to the students of the university is to be in the form of a snapshot contest and all persons, whether they consider themselves experts or not, are invited to participate. All photos will be accepted which have been taken on the campus since the beginning of school but the size will be limited to 5 by 7 inches.

These must be handed in on or before October 28, at a box provided for that purpose in the library or to the following members of the camera club: Don Linscott, Blair Watson, and Elbert Kapit. Each entry should have the name of the photographer on the back of it as well as his address. The photo will be judged at the October 29 meeting and the prizes will consist of $3, $2, and $1. There will also be ten honorable mentions and all prize winners will be put on public exhibit for a week.

Dark room regulations have been drawn up and will be posted as well as being included in the club bulletin.

Bob Blood Speaks On Draft Tonight

Dinner Precedes Talk by Governor Blood's Son

This evening at six o'clock, a dinner will be held at the Durham Community House, and at this time, the guest speaker will be Robert Blood, a senior at Dartmouth College. His topic will be, "A College Student and the Draft." A question period will be held following the talk.

The affair is one being run by and for the students. The guest speaker is a student; the committees consist largely of students; the chairmen of the evening are students; and the tables will be waited on by students of the Durham Junior High School. The arrangements for the dinner are being made by Donald Osborne; the speaker will be introduced by Gaylord Davis; and the question period will be in charge of Rosalind Cogger. A charge of twenty-five cents will be made for the Chinese dinner; however, no charge will be made for the speaking, which will begin at approximately eight o'clock.

Original Poem Read

A feature of the evening will be the first reading of an original poem, "The Draftee." The poem was written by Miss Agnes Ryan, and will be read by her at that time.

Frosh Gridsters Entertain Tilton

Opening Battle Slated For Tomorrow Appears to be Toss-up

The long-awaited opening grid tussle for Coach Hal Rood's Kitten hopefuls comes into reality tomorrow afternoon at Lewis Field when they entertain the grid forces of Tilton School. The frosh ball-toters have been holding daily practice sessions for over three weeks now and, for the most part, are in excellent shape for the lid-lifter.

Their first game was originally scheduled for last Saturday with the Junior Varsity as the opposition, but the latter's failure to get into shape by that date forced postponement of the fray. It has been rumored that this game will be played later in the season. This year's outfit is one of UNH's most aggressive in recent years. This fact has been brought to light by their splendid play when working against the varsity and in the scrimmage between themselves.

Experienced Linemen

Every line berth from end to end will be represented by a sturdy, experienced lad. Kenyon and Strumski will probably get the starting nod from the head mentor for the end slots. Lane and Dougherty just about have the tackle berths clinched. The guard sectors will be patrolled by Johnson and Benson. McDermott has shown the most ability at the center position. The backfield can boast of some classy gridsters. Rainey will bet the signal caller, Henderson and Kemp halfbacks, and Riccardone full.

Last year the local frosh eleven turned back Tilton 7-0 in a great battle. The game is slated to get underway at 2 p.m. Admission is free.

MAYORALTY

We used countless hours of continuous persuasion on him, and he finally consented to run for Mayor of DUR - Ham on the condition that his campaign would be completely sanitary sober, sedate, and, above all, SANE!!!!! At last DUR - Ham will have no crack-pots or sub-morons in its city administration — or faculty. Jayvees Drop Game To Exeter, 36-6

Coached by George Alimi And Dwight Richardson

Although having gone through only a few practice sessions, the New Hampshire Jayvee football squad opened its current campaign by invading Exeter's gridiron and dropping a 36-6 verdict Wednesday afternoon.

Coached by Dwight Richardson and George Alimi, the jayvees were unable to hold back the much heavier Exeter Academy forward wall. The Wildcats encountered the first-stringers from Exeter who averaged about 187 pounds in weight. Since this clash was of the practice medium, there were no kick-offs after touchdowns.

At the present time there are about thirty fellows out for jayvee football and all these men saw action in the Exeter tussle. The defeat to Exeter should not discourage the New Hampshire followers, however, because Exeter Academy defeated the Harvard seconds last week.

The New Hampshire touchdown was registered as the result of a pass from Hager to Billings. Billings made a remarkable catch on the pass which netted twenty yards. The passing of Hager was the highlight of the afternoon and even the Exeter coach commented favorably on the passing of the New Hampshire backfield ace.

Among the players who played were—Stevens, Mullen, Laskevich, Wiggin, Lowe, Billings, Cram, Evans, Chase, Harry Hager, Simaha, Bowles, Clesner, Pappas, Charlie Hager and a host of others.

Varsity and Frosh Harriers Face R. I.

Sweet Drives Squad Hard For Combat with Rhode Island; Hope for Victory

Varsity and freshman Cross-Country Track teams are to meet the Rhode Island Rams this Friday here in Durham. Last week the varsity did not fair so well in the meet with Maine but they hope to come through with a victory this week.

Coach Paul Sweet's men, while at Maine, had trouble due to cramps and some of them were not in proper condition to run but this last week they have had good workouts and improved immensely. They were on a four-mile course at Maine with a prevailing gale and wet course, but they will run on the U. N. H. course this week, which they know better and incidently is two and four tenths miles shorter. Even though the freshmen won last week, they have not rested on their laurels, but have gone out and worked even harder so they might be able to obtain another victory this Friday.

The U. N. H. harriers have been emphasizing one of the most important fundamental rules for Cross Country racing and that is keeping an even pace. They have gone out, and under Coach Sweet's expert direction have been improving their pace. Condition has been even more emphatically stressed and during this last week of work they have become noticably hardened to the grind.

Styrna, 'Cat Track Star Leaves For National A. A. U. Pentathlon

By Charlie Gozonsky

Tomorrow, Ed Styrna, one of the most versatile track and field men ever to attend New Hampshire University, leaves to take part in the National Amateur Athletic Union Pentathlon which will be held in Elizabeth, N. J., on Sunday at 1:30.

The five events listed are the discus, javelin, broad jump, 200 meter and 1500 meter runs. Last year Ed was fifth in a field of about 15 really good track stars. He won the javelin with a throw of 179 feet and placed well in the discus and broad jump. His weakness lay in the running events; but this year, Styrna came to school two weeks early to get in plenty of practice and has improved his times in the distances immensely under the careful and skillful supervision of Coach Paul C. Sweet.

Third Two Years Ago

Two years ago, when Styrna was 18 years old, he entered the event for the first time. The winner at that year was John Borican, the great colored runner. Last year Harry March, a graduate of the University of North Carolina was first. Trailing March and leading Styrna were William Gillegan, Boston College, William Burton, N. Y. Athletic Club, and William Harrington, Michigan State.

The winner of the N. A. A. U. Pentathlon is decided on the basis of most total points in all the events. There is a standard table to which officials refer in figuring how many points each contestant receives on the basis of his performance—not in relation to the positions of the other competitors but in each event. So the pressure is on all the time.

On the other hand, however, Styrna has several factors in his favor.

First, this is the first year he has put in the practice which is necessary before such a meet. He is in the best condition of his career.

Second, he has had the benefit of the coaching and advice of Paul Sweet.

Third, his youth—he's comparatively young at 20—may help him more than experience aids the other contestants.

A little of Ed's personal history. He attended Nashua, N. H., High and Seton Hall Prep. He is a sophomore and, aside from track, is majoring in history. He holds the World's Interscholastic 12-pound hammer throw record at 200 feet 2½ inches. It goes without saying that he is one of the best known and most popular students on campus.

Ed hopes to win. Coach Sweet says that his chances of winning are pretty good. If he loses, though, his accomplishments will be something to be proud of.

Good luck, Ed Styrna.

Sauer Optimistic; Gordon Judd, MacDonald Sidelined; Team Spirit High

"This is the hardest fighting club that I ever had," was Coach George Sauer's official announcement before leaving this morning for Springfield where the Wildcats gridsters will tackle the Gymnasts tomorrow afternoon at 2 P.M.

With the exception of Captain Dick Gordon, Charlie Judd, and Phil MacDonald, the Sauermen will be at full strength. Dick has been bothered by his shoulder and also his ankle. Charlie has a bad leg and is on the doubtful list. MacDonald definitely will not see action due to an injured leg. Gordon, however, will be ready for service before the final whistle. Meanwhile Pete Meneghin has been filling in as fullback and has been doing very well. His play against Maine was highly commendable.

Sauer Pleased With Team Play

Sauer was well pleased with the play of the Wildcats last Saturday. The line did a beautiful job of blocking and tackling and many second stringers drew songs of praise from the coaching staff. Bob Neal's work around the center slot has been something to see.

Bill Marshall, a veteran senior, reported for the team this week. Bill is a big fellow weighing well over 200 who has seen service the past three seasons at tackle. He, however, will not be in proper shape for tomorrow. Charlie Kachavos, another senior dropped out.

Mansfield Heads Springfield

Springfield has a new skipper this season, Wendell Mansfield, who served for a number of years at Bates, returned to his alma mater at the end of last season. He has developed one of the toughest lines among the small colleges in New England. They held Rutgers, one of the top notchers as far as small schools go, to 26 points and are prepared to tip the Wildcats. The Gymnasts backfield is not as formidable but they are capable of making an afternoon a long one for any opponent.

When asked for a prediction, Coach Sauer was fairly optimistic. "If the boys continue to show the fight that they have been showing, we have a very good chance of winning," Sauer stated.

Edson Teacher of New Voice Classes

Classes in voice are being conducted by Miss Louise Edson. Thirty-eight students are enrolled in her seven classes which are open to members of choir and glee club who do not take private voice lessons. These classes are made possible through the National Youth Administration, so that the only expense to the student is his book. The purpose of Miss Edson's classes is to give students a chance to study the fundamentals of voice and breathing and to stimulate further interest in singing.

Miss Edson's several years study of voice culture and majoring in voice here at the University qualify her to teach these classes. Louise is president of the Women's Glee Club as well as soprano soloist for choir and glee club. She is a member of Mortar Board and generally active in campus activities.

Democracy Best

In speaking of American ideas and ideals, Monseignor Kelley was emphatic in his assertion that democracy is the best form of government. It is not yet perfect, but it can and is being made better. He commented that through the process of debunking since the last war, modern trend of thought among many young people is that if another form of government is successful, this country might just as well adopt it. This is wrong, Dr. Kelley pointed out, as democracy has proved to be the best for the people of the United States.

In an informal discussion after the talk, Monseignor Kelley displayed his great interest in sports. Seton Hall College, of which he is president, is famed for its track and basketball teams and he discussed these with members of the club.

The speaker was introduced by Catherine Sullivan, president of the Newman Club, who was assisted in making arrangements for the affair by Ralph DesRoches.

Water Shortage Not Acute In Durham at Present

It seems that the water department has secrets as well as the military department for it does not wish to reveal any facts concerning the water shortage in Durham except that at the present the supply is O. K. if we are conservative in our use of it. At least we are not in the same predicament as Mt. Holyoke where one has to go out of town to take a bath.

In President Engelhardt's article published in various local papers, he stressed the fact that we should conserve the water, and said, "Don't let the water run too long to get a cool drink," and "be sure to turn off all taps tight."

Durham, of the one and only SUPERMAN of national fame. Again it behooves SUPERMAN to stress his modesty. It is solely on his merits he wishes to be elected. He does not descend to personal identification to insure election.

Because of his talents SUPERMAN can give all possible promises which will be enacted when he accepts the office of Mayor of Durham.

SUPERMAN is the composite of all the desires and wishes of all students on campus. He is also the agent of their gratification.

This is his slogan: Every man, a SUPERMAN; every woman, a SUPERWOMAN: FOR EVERY SUPERMAN A SUPERWOMAN AND VICE-VERSA. Watch the skies! "Is it a bluebird?" "Is it an aeroplane?" "OH NO! ITS SUPERMAN!" "THE MAYOR OF DURHAM."

It has been noised around and about this here city of Durham that E. Miles Murchie, the Prominent and Perennial Politician or some such, is running for that most Magnificent, Mighty, and Malodorous position as Mayor of Durham. Mr. Murchie is an internationally famous hotelman, and at present manages the Khnutte House in Stupor City "Where the linen is changed every day,—From room to room—"

Mr. Murchie wishes to warn the citizens of Durham against any PLOW campaign as this person is not able to PLOW RIGHT at all and is so low that he does all his reading by the light of the hotfoot. He even has to use a pogo stick to surmount such obstacles as tooth picks and any resemblance he may have to a human being is merely an optical illusion. Frankly, he is so anemic, he looks like a bottle of milk with shoes on.

The two ($2.00) dollar fee required by the girls who wish to be rushed is to be paid Thursday, October 30, in the respective dormitories from 3:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon and from 8 to 9 p.m. to the Pan-Hellenic girls stationed there. During the next week, Barbara Pride, president of Pan-Hellenic, will visit the dormitories to answer or explain any questions about the sororities. The specific times will be designated at the end of the week.

Turkey Growers Will Meet Here

Experts to Discuss New Methods of Grading Birds

The Fifth Annual New England Turkey Grading School will meet here in Durham on Thursday and Friday, October 23 and 24. On those dates university poultry experts, home economics experts, commercial equipment specialists, and turkey growers from all parts of New England will gather to talk turkey and to eat turkey. The school is made possible through the cooperation of the New England State Departments of Agriculture.

The primary purpose of this school is to get the ideas and methods of the turkey growers and the turkey graders to coincide. The turkey growers will be shown what to look for and how to select turkeys for slaughter and for dressing. Seeing that the grader rates the turkey, it is only natural that the turkey grower and the grader look for the same things in the turkey.

Dressing of Turkeys

One of the features of the program will be a ladies program including the dressing and packaging of turkeys for retail sale, and table use, by Professor P. H. Margolf of Pennsylvania State College; and turkey cooking by Mrs. Helen McLaughlin, head of the department of home economics.

Thursday evening at seven a banquet will be held in the Commons; at that time the main course will be native New England Turkey. Later Thursday evening a round table discussion of turkey growers problems, and motion pictures of the Long Island duck packing industry will be featured. The school will close on Friday, October 24, with lunch at twelve fifteen.

The headquarters in Durham will be at Pettee Hall and the hotel headquarters will be at the American House in Dover.

but we'll lend you one!

Meanwhile, we have found a way out. To meet this temporary emergency we have made a quantity of mass production slide rules that will tide you over until your standard rules are ready. These rules are not for sale. We will lend you one upon the deposit of One Dollar...and give you a full trade-in allowance when your standard rule is ready. No charge for wear and tear. Use this special rule with our compliments as long as the emergency lasts! Your campus bookstore has K&E "loaned-on-deposit" slide rules in stock for immediate delivery.
