Federal Symphony of New Hampshire Presents Concert

Orchestra with Conductor Earl V. Clay Appreciated in Classical Selections

by Richard Dent

The Federal Symphony Orchestra of New Hampshire, with Earl Clay as its conductor, presented a program of unevenly played symphonic pieces last Wednesday evening in Murkland auditorium.

Flashy and vivacious Mendelssohn, always a good opener for a concert, made up the first part of the program with the Hebrides Overture. Brilliantly played, the selection carried with it the idea of a well-balanced orchestra and a fine conductor.

Most of the other pieces in the concert did not measure up to the expectations set by the rendition of the first work. Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 was a disappointment, but improved somewhat toward the end.

While Stoessel is an American composer, and it was an American orchestra playing his Hispania Suite, the two were slightly more compatible than a lion and a lamb. It is possible that the lack of real enthusiasm and animation in the Stoessel work would not be so apparent if it were performed by a unit smaller than a symphony orchestra.

The Last Spring, by Grieg, closely verged upon the excellence of the Hebrides Overture. Evidently the orchestra's fort is short selections that need a special tonal effect.

The Carnival Romain, by Berlioz, supplied a triumphant if unconvincing close to the main part of the program.

The generous applause induced two encores, short pieces by Bizet and Kriesler. They were greatly appreciated on the basis of the masterful, incisive performance of the orchestra and conductor.

History Teachers Convene Tomorrow

The New England History Teachers' Association will hold its annual spring meeting in Murkland auditorium and the Commons tomorrow. President Fred Engelhardt will speak to the members of the association following a short business meeting. The general theme of the conference will be "Propaganda Which Confronts Us," and discussion will be led by several prominent educators. Among them will be Professor Michael Choukas of Dartmouth and Professor Erling M. Hunt of Columbia University. The latter is editor of "Social Education" magazine and was recently the principal speaker in a series of meetings sponsored for teachers by the state board of education in New Hampshire.

At one o'clock Saturday afternoon Professor William J. Wilkinson will speak on "Historical Trends and the Campaign of 1940."

The Association extends a cordial invitation to all interested in the Social Studies to attend the meeting. According to Professor Gibson R. Johnson of the history department, who was instrumental in making arrangements, the response from teachers has been very encouraging.

Dr. Engelhardt Announces Theme for Celebration

President Fred Engelhardt has announced that a program emphasizing the welfare of New Hampshire will form a part of the university's 75th anniversary celebration next year. Service, industrial, and professional groups will participate in the program.

Twenty-eight off-campus organizations have already expressed their willingness to cooperate and take part in a series of meetings which will bring together men's and women's clubs, farm groups, educational organizations, alumni councils, state departments, and industrial associations.

Exhibitions will be arranged to show student and university activities.

New Riding School Starts in Durham

Director Tom Fry Known Throughout New England as Experienced Teacher

The new riding school which opened at the university horse barn this week is under the direction of Tom Fry, one of New England's most experienced riding instructors. Mr. Fry has operated the well-known Tom Fry Stables at Lake Winnepesaukee, in the Alton-Wolfboro district, for the past sixteen years and during that period has taught riding to more than two thousand pupils. His stable, the largest on Lake Winnepesaukee, is patronized by the leading boys and girls camps of that popular resort district.

TOM FRY

This new establishment at Durham will be under the personal direction of Mr. Melvin Caswell, who has been associated with Mr. Fry at his summer riding school and is himself an excellent horseman and unusually experienced instructor.

The "University Stables," as the new riding school is called, is located just beyond the Lewis Field house in the third barn on the right and for the present will maintain a string of four horses. The conditions may require. Their equipment includes both English and Western saddles, in keeping with their slogan of "Horses and equipment to suit every rider."

Lens and Shutter Club

The annual meeting of the Lens and Shutter Club will be held Monday, May 6, in Ballard Hall at 8 P.M. Election of officers will take place at this time.

Mortar Board Taps

Wednesday night between eleven and midnight old Mortar Board members tapped the nine new members by serenading them in their respective houses. On Thursday, old members wore caps and gowns and the new members wore the gowns, to symbolize their membership. Members are chosen for leadership, service and scholarship. New members are:

Jean Adams
Margery Callahan
Marie Donahue
Lois Draper
Eleanor Hillier
Elizabeth Kinsman
Madeline Papachristos
Ruth Stoughton
Priscilla Taylor

On Thursday, May 9, a banquet and initiation will be held. Mortar Board activities include organizing the Big Sister group, looking after the freshman girls during Freshman Week, running a dance, and organizing the annual Smarty Party. This year Mortar Board is getting out a courtesy booklet for the first time.

Old members of Mortar Board are: Barbara Chase, president; Mildred Bacon, vice-president; Katherine Myhre, treasurer; Ann Reder, secretary; Marion James, editor, of history; Rachel Moore, Doris Eckhardt, Eleanor McNulty and Ruth Grady.

President Speaker at Women's Convo

Madeline Papachristos and Members of Student Government are Installed

President Engelhardt, as a guest speaker at the women's convocation on Wednesday afternoon, emphasized the growing importance of women in the university and stressed the prominence of women in key positions.

The president stated that with the growing emphasis on women in co-educational institutions there is a definite trend towards a more democratic system, and that although a long way from democracy within this institution, the trend is plainly that way.

After the president had spoken, the installation of new officers took place. Alice Coleman installed the new president Madeline Papachristos, and the council, which then took over the meeting.

The following changes in the Constitution were voted on and accepted: that voting will take place in March by the use of the preferential ballot and officers will be installed in April; that visiting hours in the girls' dormitories will be from 2 until 5, and that there will be more specific duties for house managers in the dormitories.

An announcement was made of the Folk Club scholarship of $50 which is open to the girls of the three upper classes. This scholarship is to be based on the personality, scholarship, and the general financial status of the applicant. Applications can be obtained in Dean Woodruff's office in Thompson Hall or in Miss McLaughlin's office in 208 Pettee Hall.

Outing Club

The Outing Club is running a day trip to Tuckerman's Ravine this Sunday for what promises to be some wonderful skiing. The trip will leave Ballard Hall at 6:00 A.M. and return Sunday evening. Sign up in Ballard Hall.

SEGER ELLIS

Well Known Editor Speaks at Convo

Lucien Price Maintains Adjustments Are Needed To Meet Changing Times

Asserting that life is still worth living in this age of disruptive and chaotic forces, Mr. Lucien Price, an editor on the staff of the Boston Globe, addressed the student body and faculty members, in the last convocation to be held in the present women's gym, on the subject "The Indestructible Worlds."

Mr. Price pointed out that the old assumptions in regard to personal security which existed when he was in college are now outdated by the drastic changes in human relationships brought about by the machine age. A disintegrating theology and crumbling political structure destroy nations, just as disease destroys the human body. What, then, lasts through this destruction? According to Mr. Price, it is the soul of a nation which endures. He illustrated his point with historical references to Greece, Rome and the Middle Ages.

The purpose of liberal arts courses, from Mr. Price's point of view, is to teach students how to acquire techniques of study and reading so that they may make their decisions on problems in their lives on the basis of world experience. Students in these courses are given an opportunity to enrich their lives from the cream of world culture.

Mr. Price gave his audience four ways of obtaining the "good life," which would involve very little money to carry out. They were the reading of books, the appreciation of music, enjoyment of the beauties of nature and interest in one's fellowmen.

Mr. Price, the "Uncle Dudley" of the Globe editorial page, began his career in 1907, upon graduation from Harvard, as a reporter with the Boston Transcript. A few years later he tried his hand at writing reviews of concerts and plays. He left the Transcript in 1914 and secured a position with the Boston Globe. While on the Transcript he began developing his editorial technique by writing an occasional stint for the editorial column.

While newspaper writing is his main concern, Mr. Price has also written several books of an economic and political nature. His first work, "The Middle Class," was published in 1915.

Mr. Price has also contributed to the "Atlantic Monthly" and "The Nation."

Seger Ellis Plays for Spring Social Highlight Tonight

Committee Ends Work with Broadcast; Woods Decoration Theme Used

by Sumner Fellman

With the girls' gymnasium all dressed up in nature's handiwork to resemble the College Woods, and Seger Ellis and his orchestra preparing to swing out with the smooth strains of their opening number, everything seems in readiness for tonight's eagerly-awaited Junior Promenade. Quite flattered by the decision of the decorations committee to pattern the decorations after her, old Mother Nature cooperated admirably in the drive to make the Prom a success by bringing early summer weather to Durham right on time—much to the relief of all the boys who planned to wear white jackets to the dance!

The Prom Committee climaxed a busy week of preparations, by presenting a broadcast from the University Studio, Wednesday afternoon over WHEB, in the form of a committee meeting, with Jack Kirk, Ed Burt, Walt Angers, and this reporter discussing various phases of the plans for the dance. The program, which was announced by Ray Doyle, was concluded by the introduction of Prom Queen Madeline Papachristos, and the playing of one of Seger Ellis' recordings.

Tickets Sell Well

As this is being written, tickets are selling unusually well, and it would appear that a goodly gathering will be on hand tonight for the season's major social event. In addition to the Prom, tonight, activities for the weekend include several athletic contests, and fraternity house parties tomorrow evening. Also scheduled for tomorrow evening is a semi-formal dance in the gymnasium for non-fraternity members.

Student Writer at Press; Due May 10

The Student Writer has gone to press and will be on sale in the Bookstore and a number of stores downtown soon after May 10.

This year's issue has a number of important changes in it. Because of the enormous amount of material which was obtained this year there will be 144 instead of 136 pages as there has been in the past. There will also be special sections devoted to the works of five student poets. The book's cover will be a light tan. This year the Writer is predominantly a story issue though a number of excellent essays and poems are included. Because of the great demand last year, an extra hundred copies has been printed this year by Granite State Press of Manchester.

If there is a large enough demand for copies bound in cloth, according to a practice which was begun in 1928 when the first Writer was begun and which has since been discontinued, a number of them will be printed. Anyone interested in putting in an order should notify Dr. Towle or one of the members of the editorial board of the Writer immediately.

Faculty and Students

Junior Prom is not the most important thing in the world. It is not as important, probably, as a degree gained after four years of hard work or a passing mark in a course. But it is one of the largest social events of the year, and it is important to the students who have saved their money and bought new clothes to go.

Many professors are giving exams, calling in reports Saturday morning. It can be argued from their point of view that if a student has kept his daily work up, he need not cram for an exam. That is very true, but it still remains that the average student must review his notes in order to pass an exam. Moreover, even if he has his work done and knows the subject matter thoroughly, he will not write a very good paper after only a few hours of sleep.

Hence we have the professors on one side feeling that social activities should and must be secondary and compelling attendance Saturday morning by quizzes and threats of quizzes, and the students on the other realizing full well that the course material could be so planned to have exams at other dates than the one following Prom, which is announced far in advance. We agree with the students.

It is this wide divergence in point of view which lines up faculty versus students instead of that ideal arrangement of faculty and students.

We Didn't Write It

Folk Club Offers Co-ed Scholarship

The University Folk Club is offering a $50 scholarship to a woman student in one of the three upper classes, which includes present freshmen, sophomores and juniors.

The following factors will be considered by the committee in awarding the scholarship—(a) Scholarship (b) Personality (c) General financial plan for meeting college expenses.

Application blanks may be obtained from Dean Woodruff's office at Thompson Hall, or at Mrs. McLaughlin's office in room 208, Pettee Hall. These applications must reach the committee before June first and the recipient will be notified of the award by July first.

Helen F. McLaughlin, Chairman, Student Gift Fund Committee of the University Folk Club, Ruth J. Woodruff, Mrs. Joseph Bachelder.

Berzuna Will Broadcast On Alexander the Great

Julio Berzuna of the department of languages will give a complete episode from "A Romance of Alexander the Great" over station WHEB on Thursday, May 9, at 12:15 P.M.

This novel on the Great Macedonian hero, as written by Julius Valerius circa 300 A.D., is unknown to the English reading public and will soon appear in book form, possibly next fall.

Professor and Mrs. Berzuna completed the translation from the Latin original, which required considerable reconstruction, and illustrated it with five pen and ink drawings from early sixteenth century German woodcuts.

Since this is the first time that the book has been translated into English, and only once into a modern language 88 years ago, it will no doubt be favorably received. This will be Professor Berzuna's third formal publication on Alexander the Great.

Newly-organized Press Club Hears Crissy Speak

"Students who are daily expressing themselves in college newspapers have a much greater opportunity for developing those powers of expression than those who merely study the works of others long dead," said Mr. Crissy of the education department, speaking to the newly-formed Press Club last night. He stressed the importance and value of such training as contrasted with a purely academic education.

Priscilla Taylor, editor of "The New Hampshire," spoke briefly outlining the plans for the organization which is sponsored by the college newspaper. Members of "The New Hampshire" and students who write for various off-campus newspapers form the nucleus for this new group which will cultivate the highest type of journalism and instruct its members in the writing of good news stories, make-up and other fields of newspaper work.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council held its annual banquet at Commons in the President's dining room on Wednesday evening. The present senior members, and next year's senior members were there. The new officers were officially installed. Gene Nute was toastmaster and chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

The speakers were Dean Alexander, Professor Arthur Johnson and Lieut.-Colonel Paul Starlings.

Creeley Buchanan, the outgoing president, spoke briefly, and introduced the new members to the old ones. The new officers of the council include: Wilson Brunel, president; Maurice McKenna, vice-president; William Gardner, secretary; and Harry Rooth, treasurer. The banquet formally terminated the association of the old members with their offices.

Yacht Club

The Yacht Club's 16-foot center-board sloop, lost in the northeast that struck the coast a week ago Sunday, has been located.

The boat was recovered by a lobster fisherman approximately two miles from the General Sullivan bridge. Luckily the hull was intact, the only damage being a splintered mast.

Yacht Club activity will definitely get under way this Saturday, weather and yacht club committee permitting. At that time a race against the International School of Springfield, Mass., will be held.

This will be International's second visit here, as the race was originally scheduled for April 20, but was cancelled due to the inclement weather.

Vocational Survey

Dr. Arnold E. Hanson, coordinator for Madison, Wisconsin, is making a survey of the industrial training needs of the state for the university and the State Department of Education. The university is trying to find out whether any industrial training schools are necessary for the welfare of the state's industries. The survey results will aid the university in providing industry with the service, in providing the young men of New Hampshire with an opportunity to get such vocational training, and in consideration of extension training for employees already in industry.

Co-op Elections

The Student Co-op elected the following new officers at a meeting held on Tuesday evening, April 30: John Stubbe, president; Dorothea Dowell, first vice-president; Thomas McNamara, second vice-president; Harlow Nelson, general manager and treasurer; Rowland Mayor, assistant general manager and treasurer; and Howard Burch, labor manager.

Congratulations to a fighting Kitten lacrosse team are really in order. They certainly put up a good fight against the greatest of odds. After the drubbing that the Exeter boys gave Dartmouth last Saturday, 19-3, the whole campus (with the exception of those on the lacrosse squad) figured that the Kittens were due for another such beating as they took last year at the hands of Exeter, 16-1.

That third period drive which saw the Wildcats completely outplay the prep school boys and score three successive shots, was really worth seeing. Frankly, we wouldn't have been surprised to have seen the Kittens win the ball game right then and there. It was their continual drive and fighting spirit that enabled the frosh to make such a showing as they did. Barring injuries Coach DuRie should have a five and one record to hang up at the season's end.

Well, the freshman baseball team seems to have gotten into the swing of things O.K. They came through with a well-played 7-1 victory over a strong Andover team. Shiek Karelis was at his best, giving up but two scratch hits over the length of the game; and striking out nine men in the first seven innings. Norm Flint was the big gun in the hitting department, getting two hits, a double and a triple—driving in two runs. Cahill, the Andover pitcher was hit freely and hardly, but the prep infielders were on their toes and snapped up a good many hard hit balls.

Congratulations Johnny Fabello, your boys seems to have all the stuff needed for a successful season.

About 75 Boy Scouts and 4-H Club members participated in a Forest Ranger Field Day here last Saturday. Similar programs were held in all the other counties in the state, sponsored jointly by the 4-H department of the extension service and the state forestry service.

Freshmen Conquer Phillips Andover

Behind the steady pitching of Sheik Karelis, the underdog freshman squad walloped the highly favored Andover Academy nine 7-1 at Andover Wednesday afternoon. The ex-Tilton ace allowed only two hits and struck out eight opponents to coast to an easy victory.

Cahill, the Andover hurler was handicapped by his own wildness. He walked eight men and uncorked four wild pitches.

Leading the attack for the Kittens were Norm Flint and Charlie Judd. Flint socked out a three bagger to drive in two runs.

Beginning Monday, May 6, 1940, on days when there is an admission charge to athletic contests the railroad underpass to Lewis Fields will be closed. Students and others will be admitted to the Lewis Fields at the Field House entrance only, and students who are participating in sports or physical education must present their student activity tickets for admission to the Field House.

The admission charge to any or all athletic events on any one day will be forty cents.

Varsity Lacrosse Men Meet Harvard

In what shapes up as the crucial game of the season, the New Hampshire varsity lacrosse team takes on a veteran Harvard team of stickhandlers tomorrow afternoon in Boston.

Fresh from wins over M.I.T. and Williams, the Wildcats will be the underdogs to take the Harvard lads into camp, as the Boston boys have wins over Springfield, Stevens, and M.I.T. but suffered a 8-2 defeat at the hands of Army, and last Saturday the Dartmouth team came through in the last three minutes of play to take a game away from the Crimson boys.

Pete Zouck and Doug Anderson are the big guns on the Harvard squad.

Last year the Wildcats took home a 12-5 victory but at that time the Crimson team was composed mostly of sophomores. This season with a dozen more games under their belts, the Harvard team will be hard to stop.

Coach Dougal feels that the Boston team is on a par with Williams although not quite so rough. "If we get by Harvard, we should have a fine chance of going through the rest of our schedule undefeated—barring injuries."

The tentative line-up: Improta, goalie; Glines, Cattabriga and Brunel, defense; Monica, Randall, Lanyon, midfield; Piretti, Costanzo and Coutts, at attack.

Pictures in the National Annual Intercollegiate Photographic salon, sponsored by the Lens and Shutter club will be judged tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock in the Fine Arts room of the Library.

Brown Track Team Meets 'Cats Today

McLaughry, Flaherty Renew Feud; 'Cats Out to Equal Series Record

Headed by its two big guns, Captain Ken Clapp and John McLaughry, the Brown University track team comes to Durham today for the twelfth renewal of its dual track meets with the Wildcats.

This marks the Wildcats spring debut on the cinders for the year, whereas the Bruins will have the benefit of two meets plus the Penn Relays under their belts. However, New Hampshire's Paul Sweet said in a pre-meet interview, "I Don't look for a runaway for either team. They have their strength in the dashes and shorter runs. We are strong in the long distances." He added, "In the field events, you take your choice. Of course, I look for Flaherty to come through against McLaughry in the hammer. Matt's third in the Penn meet was fifteen feet better than Mac's 4th that day, so you see what I mean."

New Hampshire fans will have a chance to renew acquaintances with Brown's sensational dash man, Ken Clapp; he being the same person who became the first man ever to win three events in the New England Intercollegiate when he romped home in front in the 100 and 200 yard dashes and the 220 low hurdles last year in Durham. In addition, Clapp is the I.C.4A 60 yard dash champion, and has equalled the world's record in the 40 and 50 yard dashes. He is an odds-on choice to win the 100 and 220 hurdles today.

Brown's football captain, McLaughry, is equally as famous in the track world, holding the New England Intercollegiate hammer championship, making the longest hammer throw of the 1939 season, and was selected on the Associated Press All-American track team.

For New Hampshire, Stewart looks like a good bet in the broad jump, and should figure in the show and place positions in the dashes. Steve Lampson will run up against a Brown pole vaulter who has done twelve feet, but Steve has equalled that mark in practice. Brown's discus man, Gosdel, holds his college's record in that event.

The feature of the meet will be the duel between "Big Matt" Flaherty and McLaughry; both being old rivals in the iron circle.

Good Game

Behind two-hit pitching and air-tight fielding, and some pretty hefty hitting, the frosh baseballers beat Andover 7-1. The Wildcat sports schedule is really unwinding itself in the right manner.

Roper to Hurl Against Nutmeggers; Jordan to Oppose Rams Tomorrow

The pennant-bound Wildcats left this morning for the annual Connecticut and Rhode Island invasion which will determine New Hampshire's potentialities against first class rivals.

New Hampshire is scheduled to meet the Nutmeggers of Connecticut this afternoon at Storrs. The veteran Al Roper is slated to go to the hill against the down-staters and if Al is right, the local fans may be reasonably sure of a victory.

It is believed that the main line of resistance will be furnished by the Rams of Rhode Island—they are a reckless bunch who will do anything anytime to win a ball game. Buck Jordan is scheduled to work against the Rams and he will have to be in top form to be able to do the trick.

In reference to last Saturday's game, Coach Swasey remarked, "I am well pleased with the defensive play of the boys, but I was somewhat disappointed with the lack of offensive power. Jack Hersey hit just the way I expected he would; Sam Clark hit the ball on the nose but there was always someone in there to take it. There is batting strength in my club and if we can score five runs on either Rhode Island or Connecticut we'll beat them."

"Toote Plante was the main defensive cog in that Maine encounter. He handled nine chances without a mishap and looked like a real star around the keystone sack. He didn't throw the ball but actually fired it."

The starting lineup will find Hall, 2b; Hersey, c; Clark, lf; Larson, 1b; Adams, rf; Parker, 3b; Cryans, cf; Plante, ss; Roper and Jordan, p.

Tennis Team Tops Boston University

Hampered by a Boston wind, the Blue and White racquet squad eked out its second win in as many starts by topping Boston University's crack tennis squad 5-4. The victory was more decisive than the one point margin might indicate, for three of the Terriers' points were gained by default when the doubles matches were rained out.

The opening match had Piffard facing Corey, B.U.'s number one racketeer, whose place shots and masterful volleys won for him the match 6-2, 6-2. Conway tied the count by fighting off the stubborn Posner 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. Phil Hodgdon gave a surprisingly good tennis exhibition, defeating Withington 10-8, 6-2. Captain Leavitt and Wein added to our advantage by defeating Morse 0-6, 6-3, 6-1 and Mason 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 respectively. Bill Feeney was hard pushed by Polard but outplayed him to win.

Wildkittens Lose First Game of the Season to Exeter

Prepschoolers Win 11-6 as Wildcat Rally Fails to Click in Last Quarter

In its first defeat of the season, a fighting freshman lacrosse team fell before an exceptionally strong Exeter club, 11-6, Wednesday afternoon at Lewis Field.

Displaying the brand of lacrosse and competitive spirit that led them to victories over Andover, and Harvard, the Kittens matched the Exeter boys' speedy stickhandling with fast head-work and footwork.

Palmer, Exeter attack man, opened the scoring with a goal at the four-minute mark, and another three minutes later. Bob Randall, on a line pass from Lanyon, zipped the ball past the Exeter goalie one minute later to make the score 2-1.

The second period opened with Don Begin sinking a goal to pull New Hampshire up even, but the experience of the prep school boys began to tell and they put four more goals into the Wildcat net before the Kittens got another, this time by Captain Phil Martin.

Wilson, the prep school center, broke away fast at the opening of the second half, and sneaked the ball by Goalie Bill Moore to make the score Exeter 7, New Hampshire 3. At this point the Wildcat offensive clicked in a manner that left nothing to be asked for. In one minute and seven seconds, three goals were registered by Martin, Cochran, and MacDonald, respectively, making the score 7-6 with the Kittens only one goal behind. Exeter recovered quickly from New Hampshire's rally and took command of the game from that period on; scoring two more shots in the third period and another brace in the last stanza, the game ending 11-6.

Tomorrow, Coach DuRie takes his boys to South Byfield, Mass., to meet a strong semi-experienced team from Governor Dummer Academy.
