Informal Lecture on Famous Artists

Charles L. Wagner Gives Vivid Description of his 30 Years as "Impressario"

By Lilly Carlson

"Most artists like publicity and the newspapers like to play up a story," Charles Wagner stated in an informal talk about his years spent in managing artists. Among the famous artists with whom he has dealt are Alexander Kipnis and Zinka Milinov, both of whom recently appeared here, Jeanette MacDonald, Will Rogers, John McCormack, John Charles Thomas, Mary Garden, and Amelita Galli-Curchi.

Mr. Wagner stated that the first thing a manager must do is to find something in the artist that will appeal to the public. John Charles Thomas became well known through the popularization of his "Mother" songs. A difficult situation is that of presenting the artists to the critics and the public. The critics like to find the artists, themselves. They don't like to be told. One of the tricks of a manager is to engage a clique, a group of people who will applaud the artist at the right moment and start the applause of the rest of the audience.

"Will Rogers," said Mr. Wagner, "was a most difficult man to manage." He never knew how to pin him down, and Rogers was forever disappearing at odd moments. However, he always showed up for the performance. One of the most satisfactory people Mr. Wagner ever managed was Mary Garden. She was always front page news.

Theta Chi Carries Mask and Dagger

At the annual meeting of Mask and Dagger, university dramatic society, held last Tuesday in Murkland 304, Theta Chi fraternity swept the major offices with a superb display of unanimity. The meeting was held primarily for the election of officers, but also to discuss certain policies of the club. Such discussion as transpired, however, was overshadowed by the election itself and by the introduction of many new members.

New officers of Mask and Dagger are as follows: President, David Crockett; Vice President, Donald Crafts; Treasurer, Tony Touart; Secretary, Dorothy Briggs; Technical Director, Robert Stewart; Publicity Director, Walter Webster; Scenic Director, John Gaw; Electrical Director, Evans Daggett; Property Director, Faith Williams; and Musical Director, Nathan Babcock.

It was decided that the club would award six prizes to members this year, instead of five. One committee was appointed to suggest changes in the constitution of the club, and another to be in charge of the exhibition which will be held in conjunction with Mother's Day exercises.

Mask and Dagger Production Introduces Freshman Talent

by Tom O'Donnell

The cast of "The Old Homestead," Mask and Dagger spring production, is by far the largest ever to take part in a play here on campus, including as it does, over forty players. This large cast plus the fact that the time is in the 1870's makes it one of the most difficult plays ever to be produced by the dramatic society. Despite this, work has been progressing very well of late, as the actors are gradually getting the feel of their parts. Much time has been spent on those scenes depicting New York society in the seventies. There is a great deal of difference between the free-striding, athletic young girls of today, and those of older times, with their extremely

Juniors Hold Prom Tonight; Red Nichols' Orchestra Will Play

Gigantic Pageant Depicts Vision of Ben Thompson

Miss Hoban is Writer and Director of 8 Episodes Employing Cast of 600

Rehearsals for the largest pageant ever to be presented on campus have been underway for over a month in preparation for the special Mother's Day celebration of May 17.

The square dancing class of sixty girls have been working intensively on the County Fair episode and the modern dancing class of 38 girls has been working just as hard on the dance which will depict the antagonism between the Liberal Arts colleges of Dartmouth and the New Hampshire Agricultural College.

Principle Characters

Of the entire cast which will contain almost 600 people there are a number of characters such as Ben Thompson and Dean Pettee who will be outstanding. Some of the campus' most prominent thespians were chosen by the casting directors to take the following leads: Ben Thompson, Mickey Moore; Daniel M. Christie of Dover, Thompson's lawyer, Monty Evans; Abraham Lincoln, Herb Blais; Senator Justin Morrill, Russ Byles; Dean Pettee, Fred Bowles; Professor Scott, Mado Crafts; Master of Ceremonies for the County Fair Episode, Walt Webster; Lucy Swallow, Jean Adams; Delia Brown, Jeannette Toohill; Mr. Swallow, Dave Crockett; teacher in the Physical Culture Band Drill in the 1913 Episode, Jan Gagnon; President Hetzel, Ray Doyle; Pianist, Doris Trafton; and Reader, Bob Nolan. Co-incidentally, Sid Dimond will play the part of his great-great-uncle, Professor Ezekiel Dimond, New Hampshire College's first professor. One of the most effective parts of the pageant will be a solo dance by Dot Bancroft, in which she takes the part of Death touching Ben Thompson with her wand.

75 Years of Progress

This historical pageant, "Ben Thompson's Vision," written and directed by Miss Margaret R. Hoban, contains eight episodes covering the 75-year history of the university. The program will open with a speech by President Engelhardt and this will be followed by the Prologue which shows Ben Thompson making his will in 1856. The episodes will depict President Lincoln signing the Morrill Act bill in 1862; Professor Dimond welcoming the first class in Hanover, 1868; the New Hampshire Legislature dedicating Culver Hall in 1871; a

Mortar Board Taps Nine Junior Girls

If anyone wondered why a number of co-eds were wandering around campus yesterday in long black caps and gowns their conjecturing may soon cease. Nine juniors were tapped Wednesday night by Mortar Board, honorary senior society, and part of the ceremony included donning this attire for the entire day. The ceremony was completed last night with a formal banquet held in the President's Dining Room in Commons followed by an initiation ceremony at the home of President and Mrs. Engelhardt.

Nine Juniors Tapped

The following girls were elected: Barbara Burns, Alpha Chi Omega, newly elected president of Women's Student Government, and a member of the University Choir; Leonia Dumont, leading lady in last year's and this year's Granite Varieties productions, and a member of Women's Student Government; Louise Edson, Theta Upsilon, and one of the campus' leading musical lights, being prominent in the Choir, Glee Club and Madrigal Singers; Teresa Foley, Pi Lambda Sigma, recently elected commuter member of Women's Student Government; Penelope Richards, president of Alpha Chi Omega, who has been active in past years in campus musical activities; Eleanor Mauricette, newly elected president of W. A. A., member of Women's Student Government last year and this, Blue Circle, Women's Ski Team, and high honor student.

Catherine Sullivan, Pi Lambda Sigma, Mask and Dagger veteran, and Pan-Hellenic representative; Marjorie Moore, Alpha Xi Delta, Pan-Hellenic officer and Aide to Queen Wini Kennedy at tonight's Junior Prom; and Carolyn Napier, Alpha Xi Delta, Managing Editor of the 1942 Granite and Blue Circle.

Mrs. Edythe Richardson, assistant professor of zoology, was made an honorary member during the ceremonies.

Judging Classes Visit Pittsfield Horse Farm

Future farmers and livestock men of Mr. Harold V. Clem's Animal Husbandry judging classes saw real draft type and some of the best Belgian horses in the country on a field trip to the Diamond Slash L Stock Farms in Pittsfield, Tuesday.

Leaving early in the afternoon, the classes in A. H. 2 and A. H. 4 judged three classes of horses and received valuable information from their inspection of the farm.

Of special interest were two imported mares who came on the last load of horses to arrive in America from Belgium.

Following a recent meeting of the board of trustees, several promotions among the University of New Hampshire faculty and staff were announced by the president's office.

Carl Lundholm director of athletics and formerly an associate professor was given a full professorship of physical education and athletics. Howard R. Jones, assistant professor of education, will also fill the position of counselor in the education department. Associate professorships were given in six departments—Paul C. Sweet in physical education and athletics, Dr. Alvert F. Daggett in chemistry, Marvin R. Solt and Dr. Daniel C. Lewis in mathematics, George R. Thomas in architecture, and Dr. Albion R. Hodgdon in botany. All were formerly assistant professors, with the exception of Dr. Hodgdon, who was an instructor.

Presentation of Cup to Queen Winifred Kennedy High Spot of the Evening

Featuring the music of Red Nichols and his orchestra, the Class of 1942 presents the annual Junior Prom in New Hampshire Hall this evening from 9 until 2. The outstanding social event of the 75th Anniversary year, the Prom is expected to draw a record throng of undergraduates and alumni.

Red Nichols, one of the country's outstanding trumpet players, is presenting a fourteen piece orchestra which is centered around his original Five Pennies. Recently gaining widespread popularity among college students of the middle west where he has just completed a five-months tour, Nichols comes to this campus with

Two Convocations Left in Semester

Many Organizations and Societies to Participate; Freshman Convos Ended

According to the present schedule, there will only be two more convocations—one conducted by a Student Council on May 8, the other, by the seniors on June 5. Both promise to be interesting enough to warrant a big attendance.

The main purpose of the Student Council Convocation will be to acquaint the students with the different societies and organizations on campus. Although it is referred to as a Student Council Convocation, many other organizations will be represented. Among them will be the Women's Student Government, the Sphinx, honorary Junior Society, and the honorary Senior Society, Skulls and Blue Key. The students will have the opportunity not only to get to know these societies better, but also to personally meet the outgoing and the incoming officers. There will be short talks by each outgoing president as to the nature and purpose of his organization and what it has done in the last year. Then, the incoming president will be introduced and he will take over by telling of the plans for the coming year.

As for the Senior Convocation on June 5, there are as yet no definite plans. Probably, as is customary, the different yearly prizes such as the Hood and Bailey prizes will be awarded, and all important announcements will be made. This will be held at the Field House.

Because Sid Dimond and Jeannette Toohill, the usual collaborators on the Frosh skits, will be busy participating in the Mother's Day Pageant,

Calendar Loaded with Promising Events; Many Speakers, Meetings

By Dorothea Dowell

Yesterday was the first of May, you know, and we trust you all tore April off the calendar with gusto and went out to hunt for May flowers. May is going to be a month of special importance this year on the University calendar with all the particular events being held in conjunction with the University's anniversary celebration plus the usual routine things scheduled for the month. So let's glance over the next thirty-one days and get a review of a few of the coming attractions.

With Kappa Sigma's day by day forecast posted on their front lawn, every one knows by now that the social highlight of the 75th Anniversary year—the Junior Prom is tonight. (Of course, you may have heard it elsewhere, too.) But to pass on to more serious things, representatives from eight coeducational schools will meet here May 2 and 3 for their annual conference on women student government problems. Cornelia Stratton Parker, the noted novelist, will be the featured speaker; her topic will be "Women in a Changing Social World."

Also on May 3 the New England Home Economics Association and Visual Education organization will hold conferences here. In the former health will be stressed as the first line of defense, and one of the special

On With the Dance

Tonight at nine o'clock the annual Junior Prom will begin, and a large portion of the student body will dance until the wee small hours of tomorrow morning. For one evening the textbooks will be forgotten, and the girl who has purchased a new evening dress will step out with the boy who has saved his money for tickets. For one evening social activities will overshadow the academic studies.

In years past many professors have viewed social activities dourly, and on the morning after have given exams and called in reports. They claimed that a student who had kept up in his work did not need to study for an exam, forgetting that even the good student needs a chance to review his notes and to get a little sleep.

This year there has been a noticeable tendency on the part of the faculty to cooperate with the students. Many professors have postponed exams for several days. We sincerely hope that all professors have done so.

Bad Actors?

When one fraternity on campus succeeds in carrying all the major offices of an important campus organization a doubting editor raises his eyebrow and wonders whether to throw bouquets or brickbats. If the newly elected officers were chosen by a majority of those voting, and if those voting had a right to vote, then the house has every right to be extremely proud. But no one has a right to be proud of an election carried solely by fraternity politics.

Why Don't They Open the Stacks

We believe that every student should use the library, both in his regular class work and for his own pleasure, for a well-read individual stands head and shoulders above his fellow men. Yet there is evidence to show that a considerable portion of the student body has never taken a book from the library, a truly regrettable situation.

This is in part due to the difficulty of choosing a book from a card catalog. This year over a hundred students have been given stack permits, allowing them to browse among the shelves of books. Students who have had this opportunity report that they have enjoyed and benefited by the practice. Why can't the library stacks be opened to the entire student body?

The major argument against so doing is that many valuable books would be lost. It seems to The New Hampshire that this loss could be prevented by a checking-out desk near the main entrance; that the present library staff could carry the extra-work; and that the entire student body would enjoy and be aided by this privilege.

According to Mike and Dial

According to material released by Mike and Dial, campus radio club, that organization is looking forward to a bigger and better season next year. We sincerely hope so, for the past year's performances have not been as good as might have been expected. The programs in general have lacked interest, have not contained enough music, and have not been as well prepared as they should have been.

This is not a wholesale condemnation of Mike and Dial, for as a comparatively new organization they have been faced with many difficulties, some of which they have successfully conquered. The group concerned contains enough talent to fulfill a vital function on campus—if they get down to work.

Forensic Society Sponsors Contest

Extemporaneous Speeches Will be Given for First Time; Winners Get Medals

This year has been notable in more than one respect. Not only have we had a Seventy-fifth Anniversary to keep students busy but many new and important projects have been strated. One of these is the T. K. A. speech contest scheduled to take place on May 8, in Murkland Auditorium at eight o'clock in the evening. The contest, open to all students of the university, including women, is sponsored by Tau Kappa Alpha, National Honorary Forensic Society.

The fact that the contest is extemporaneous makes it necessary for the contestant to be quite familiar with his material. As a consequence, the competitor has the option on the one of the following general fields which appeals to him most and which he feels he is most competent to handle. The fields are: (1) The American Labor Movement, (2) The Defense Program of the U. S. A., (3) United States Foreign Policy and (4) Developments in the War since January 1, 1941. In the field of his choice he will read and prepare till the time of the choosing of his specific topic. The drawing of the specific topics will take place in Room 306, Thompson Hall, at two o'clock on the afternoon before the contest. Each candidate will draw three specific topics within the field of his choice; he shall have three minutes to return the topics which he does not select. In the drawing of the specific topics he will have narrowed the material down to a point where his speech will not contain the vague generalities that it might otherwise have. The audience can therefore look forward to talks well spiced with facts and figures—not unsupported opinions.

The speeches are to be from seven to eight minutes long and not memorized. The specific topics will be "covered", that is, discussed, in the issues of "Time" and "Newsweek" between March 14 and April 21. However, the candidates are encouraged to read other materials in preparation besides these two magazines.

If there are more than ten contestants there will be an elimination series of two contests the afternoon of May 7, in Murkland Auditorium at four o'clock. The drawings for these eliminations will be held in Thompson Hall, Room 306, between ten and twelve o'clock in the morning. From the eliminations, six contestants will be chosen to compete in the final contest for the prizes offered by T. K. A. Those taking first, second, and third places will receive medals on Award Day.

The judges will be three faculty members of the university. Although the use of notes is not prohibited, contestants are advised that the speaker who uses no notes has a more effective presentation. The contestants to date are: Hershel Cleener, Sumner Fellman, John Mead, Sara Pearson, Sid Dimond, Bernard Yoffee, Walter Webster, F. Donald Pickering, Don K. Crafts, William L. Dimond, and Leslie Britten. Students who wish to enter can do so as late as Monday.

Davis on Mound Against Nutmeggers; Karelis to Hurl at Rhode Island

With one victory safely tucked away, the varsity baseball squad left this morning for its annual invasion of Connecticut and Rhode Island. The team left at 7:30 this morning and will return tomorrow night after the Rhode Island game.

Swasey is very pleased with the showing that the boys are making and expressed words of optimism after practice last night. "The boys are looking better every day, by the end of the season we should have won some ball games," Coach Swasey stated.

DAVIS FRIDAY

Red Davis is the Wildcat mentor's choice to go after the Nutmeggers Friday. Davis is one of the most improved ball players on the team. Being a big fellow he has a fast ball and a pretty good curve. Lefty Tighe and Fred Draper will be held in case of an emergency. Sheik Karelis will go after his second victory against the Rams of Rhode Island on Saturday. Sheik is up against a better team but if he is in form he will let Warner Keaney know that he has been in a ball game. Northeastern behind Lefty Tanner defeated the Rams 1-0 in a close battle.

Charron Improving

Fred Charron has been coming along as well as anyone on the team. Nothing much was expected of Fred the first of the season but now he has developed into a fairly good third sacker. His play is forcing Dick Sughrue to keep his head up. He is a sure fielder and a pretty good sticker.

Coach Swasey is planning to start the same lineup as the one which faced the Mules here last Saturday. If a right hander should be encountered it is possible that Dick Smith will start in the outfield. Connecticut will probably lineup as follows: Degnero, cf; Baldwin, rf; Horvath, ss; Mitchell, 1b; Yusievicz, c; Winzler, 2b; Krause, lf; Adams, 3b; Mugerio, or Kovac, p.

The possible starting combination for the Keaneymen follows: Cranston, cf; Albruzzi, 1b; Conley, ss; Keaney, rf; Coates, lf; Belline, 3b; Zammarchi, 2b; Hedison, c; Conti, or Rutledge, p. Swasey will probably lineup the following: Cryans, cf; Callagy, 2b; Austin, lf; Adams, 1b; Richards, ss; Sughrue, 3b; Boucher or Smith, rf; Alimi, c; Davis and Karelis, p.

Weekend Rec Moves To Memorial Field

Beginning this Saturday, May 3, Saturday and Sunday co-recreation will move from New Hampshire Hall onto Memorial Field. From 3-5 o'clock, the equipment house at the far end of the field will be open for girls alone, or for a girl with a boy to get archery, softball, golf or lacrosse equipment. Boys alone will not be allowed on the field.

In order to safeguard the people and also the equipment, no one should use the archery equipment unless either the boy or the girl knows something about the sport.

Cotton balls will be available for golfers to practice with. Hard balls should be furnished by the individual, and must not be used unless there are only golfers on the field.

This equipment will be available every Saturday and Sunday between 3 and 5 when the weather is favorable, and on week days between 4 and 5:30. Everyone is asked to be sure that all equipment is returned to its proper place. Please consult the girl in charge concerning the correct bow and arrow for each individual archer.

No evening Rec next Monday and Thursday evenings. The Hall will be used for other purposes.

There will be a New Hampshire board meeting Monday, May 5th at 7:30 in Ballard Hall.

"MEET THE WILDCAT"

Plus: "Golden Eggs"

SELECTED SHORT SUBJECTS

by Phil Peters

After witnessing tennis matches at Franklin and here at Durham, it is rather obvious that New Hampshire's young crop of tennis-smashers will develop into players capable of frustrating a great number of foes. Although this year's troupe will show up well, next year's forces will be much better. Strock and Churas are doing their share splendidly in aiding Conway, Feeny, Morse and the rest. Most of the enthusiasts realize, however, the fact that the Wildcats, who are playing every game away from familiar courts, must battle on courts that are not made of asphalt, but clay. Therefore, they must quickly adapt themselves to a new environment in order to become successful. After practising here all week on asphalt they must demonstrate their skill on clay. Work on clay courts was started in Durham some time ago and great progress was made when suddenly all labor was abruptly halted and the tennis players' dreams were shattered. We realize that this halt may have been brought about by sane and just causes, but we also wonder if work can be resumed now. Balls bounce just right on clay, but on asphalt the hop is much faster. If our players work on one kind of court all the time, then, in all probabilities, their playing will be steadier.

One of the greatest attractions offered here at Durham this year will be the spectacular Interscholastic Track Meet on May 10. This colorful spectacle will be highlighted by thrilling performances of high school and prep school athletes from all over New England. Pulse-stirring dashes, fast-breaking relays, and the customary record-breaking events will feature this brightest of all spring sports days here on campus. Thirty-nine out-of-state schools, 14 prep schools and 14 New Hampshire high schools will participate, bringing together about 800 young athletes eager to maintain the dignity of their alma mater. This affair brings back to our minds the great sport festivals that the ancient Greeks sponsored long ago and it makes us feel fortunate in seeing American youth competing on friendly terms on the athletic field instead of the bloody, life-devastating fields of Europe. Regardless of how antagonistic we feel toward each other while playing, regardless of how the final outcome is, we all are friends at the end and usually climax the day by either going dancing or going for a stroll with the girl friend. That's the way it should be!

Tips Around Campus — "Sheik" Karelis did his part in the last diamond battle but don't think that his work alone will make the New Hampshire nine a formidable outfit. There is no doubt that his twirling will be a vital asset but the problem now is whether or not Swasey can produce another mound flinger to take the stand when Karelis rests his arm. A college pitcher should have at least four days rest between turns to the mound in order to be effective and New Hampshire must go through a stretch that includes games almost every other day. This means that unless the other pitchers come through, there must be very hard hitting to bring achievements... Good wishes to Dwight Stiles on be-elected captain of the winter track team... Don Perkis, who was the spearhead of the varsity hockey squad, will captain the hockey team next year... Fred Jervis whiffed eight Andover batters in his initial start of the season.

Frosh Tracksters Meet Portsmouth

The freshman tracksters will face their opener tomorrow against the combined forces of Portsmouth-Deering high schools. Portsmouth was defeated by our boys last winter. Little is known of Deering but they always manage to field a strong aggregation.

From pre-season appearances we find the squad strong in field events and in dire need of runners. Time trials in the various events have been held and the following have fared well in their respective events: Morcom, Styrna, Smith, Stetson, King, Miville, Openshaw, Ennis, Bradley and Stewart.

Boo Morcom and Ed Styrna should garner many firsts between themselves. Ed holds the world's record in the 12-lb. hammer throw with a heave of 200 feet while representing Seton Hall prep at Durham last May in the Interscholastics. Boo has broken many cage records in the high jump and pole vault.

The squad has been working out daily under the tutelage of Coach Sweet. The boys are in good physical condition and will most probably give a good exhibition of their capabilities this coming Saturday. This meet will be a good indication as to the outlook of the team in its future meets with such outfits as Exeter, Brown and Dartmouth.

The high jump will be the first event on the card and will open the meet at 1:45 P. M.

Perkins Captains Hockey

Don Perkins was recently elected to lead the Wildcat hockey forces in 1942. Don hails from Lynn, Mass., and starred at New Hampton before coming to the university. As a freshman he was elected co-captain of the squad. He is one of the best defensemen ever to come to New Hampshire. He is a very fast skater and very aggressive, which is indispensable to hockey.

Brown Turns Back Fighting Wildcats 69-65

Kittens Slam Out 12-10 Triumph for First Win of Year

Andover Fails in Ninth Inning Rally to Overcome Freshmen's 4 Run Lead

Unleashing an eighteen hit attack and piling up ten runs in the first four innings, the freshman baseball team nosed out Phillips Andover Academy Wednesday afternoon 12-10.

Jervis went the distance for the Kittens, allowing sixteen hits, giving up nine bases on balls, and striking out eight. He received sloppy support in the field, no less than eight errors being chalked up against New Hampshire.

The Kittens took a four run lead in the first inning which they never relinquished. Rhuland started it off with a base on balls and went to second on Brown's grounder to the pitcher. Burby came through with a double, scoring Rhuland and scored several minutes later on Adams' triple. "Red" tried to stretch it into a home run, but was out at the plate. Fitandides walked and scored on Dupont's long triple. Jervis followed with a single to score Dupont with the fourth run. Greenwood fanned to end the rally.

ANDOVER RALLIES

Brockway, the Andover pitcher, gave way to Howe in the fourth, but he was also belted hard for five runs. Besides Andover's four run spurge in the second, their most promising rally came in the ninth. Three successive triples accounted for two runs. After Jervis struck out Dudens, he walked Cox and Boynton to load the bases. He really bore down then, forcing Pyle to ground to Burby and Brockway to pop up to Flynn.

New Hampshire lineup: Rhuland, c; Brown, lf; Burby, 3b; Adams, rf; Fitandides, Flynn, 2b; Dupont, Richardson, cf; Jervis, p; Greenwood, Orton, ss; Malloy, 1b.

Andover lineup: Coleman, cf; Asbury, ss; Bush, 1b; Duden, lf; Boynton, 3b; Mammer, Cox, rf; Pyle, c; Sturges, 2b; Brockway, Howe, p.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Tl

Springfield Meets 'Cats Tomorrow

Riding the crest of a two straight victory wave, the Wildcat lacrosse team will try to topple powerful Springfield tomorrow afternoon on Lewis Field.

Springfield has one of the most powerful teams in New England and last Saturday defeated Harvard 12-3. On their southern trip, they met some very strong teams. John Hopkins, top team in the nation, easily defeated them 20-0, and in their first game with North Carolina they were beaten 6-4, but came back to outclass the Tar Heels in the second battle 11-2. The Gymnasts also lost to Loyola 8-4.

Coach Tony Dougal has been doubtful as to whom he would use in place of Cattabriga and Begin. He has finally decided to use Glines and Wright at the second defense and point positions.

The schedule this year is better arranged than last season, because the easiest game comes first and they become increasingly difficult.

Programs will be passed out at the game containing names and numbers of all the players and also the basic rules of the game. The game starts at 2:30.

The New Hampshire line-up: Wright, 2d; Monica, c; P Martin, 2a; Brunel, 1d; Glines, p; H. Martin, cp; Mackel or Rudd, 1a; Lanyon, 1h; Judkins, oh; Improta, g.

one of the best bands to appear here in recent years. Besides his bass player, Homer Bennett, saxophonist, Rae DeGeer, and boogie woogie pianist, Billy Maxted, Red features the singing of Linda Keene, his beautiful vocalist. Noted for his interpretation of popular waltzes, rhumbas, and tangos, the dance maestro should prove a great favorite here.

The natural beauty of New Hampshire Hall will be enhanced by the simplicity of the decorations. Wall paneling with bunting and indirect lighting issuing from the panels adorn the sides of the hall. A huge New Hampshire seal will be silhouetted in back of the orchestra. These two motifs will form the nucleus of the decorations for the affair.

The presentation of the queen's cup by President Fred Engelhardt to Miss Winifred Kennedy will be one of the features of the evening. Miss Kennedy and aides, Miss Elinor Doyle and Miss Marjorie Moore will be formally introduced to President Engelhardt, and the dancers by class president Raymond Doyle during intermission.

Chaperones for the event will be, besides President and Mrs. Engelhardt, Acting Dean and Mrs. Starke, Dean Ruth Woodruff, Mr. Paul Schoedinger and Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh.

MASK AND DAGGER

an elderly lady; now she has the opportunity to do a young girl.

Tom Burkhard. Theta Chi, a transfer from Colgate this year, has already been in one play here "Tovarich."

Among the newcomers, Teddy Kangas, a freshman, comes from Penacook High School, where she acted in school plays for four years. She has been active in prize speaking contests, having been entered in competition at the University of New Hampshire her last two years in school. Teddy comes by her talent naturally. Her father is an excellent actor and has taught her much about show business.

Doris Dearborn is another very talented member of the freshman class, who is breaking in with Mask and Dagger in "The Old Homestead." Doris was one of the outstanding actors at Epping High School. While a junior there, she displayed her versatility by writing an original one-act play which was selected to be given at Laconia in the finals of the New Hampshire competition. On campus, she has already done much in dramatics, having been the assistant director of the freshman play.

Connie Estes, the third of the freshman girls in the play, has also had much experience. Besides her high school dramatics, she has attended the Rice Summer School at Martha's Vineyard. Among the plays in which she has acted are "June Mad," "Little Women," and "The Old Maid." Chet Turner, S. A. E., another newcomer to campus plays, has had training in dramatics both in High School and at Tilton Junior College. He has appeared in "MacBeth," "A Mid-Summer, Night's Dream," and also in several short plays in which he also worked as a member of the production crew.

With all these personalities, indications are that this spring offering of Mask and Dagger will be one of its most outstanding.

Visual Aids Educators Here

Tomorrow morning educators from the six New England states and New York will gather on campus to discuss the use of visual aids in high school and college teaching, as a feature of the fourth annual regional conference of the National Education Association's department of visual education.

The all day program will be opened by Professor Abraham Krasker of Boston University who will outline the aims of the department of visual instruction. Other morning speakers who will speak on this subject include Leland S. March of the Roosevelt School, Melrose, Mass., Principal Raymond Beal of the Portsmouth Junior High School, and Superintendent Lawrence O. Thompson of Keene.

War Pictures Shown

Highlighting the program will be an illustrated address on "The Wartime Use of Motion Pictures in Britain" presented by Richard Ford of the British Library of Information. Education in defense will be the subject of the luncheon session at which President Engelhardt will speak. Dr. Howard Jones, assistant professor of education, and R. Haven Falconer, director of Dartmouth College films and chairman of the New England Educational Film association, will be heard in the afternoon session, following which a panel of nine will discuss the promotion of a more intensive and intelligent use of visual aids in education.

A business session and a meeting of the directors of the New England Educational Film association will conclude the conference which is a feature of the 75th anniversary.

CONVOCATIONS

and Barbara Shields, director of the skits, will be directing a section of the program, there will be no more Freshman Convocations.

Dr. Sackett, who initiated the idea of Frosh skits, announces that he is quite satisfied with their results. The ideas were good, their presentation interesting, and in general, he thinks the purposes for which they were held were achieved. He also announces that as a result of this year's experience, we can look forward to a more extensive program next year.

Not only is Dr. Sackett pleased with the Freshman Convocations, but he is pleased with the whole class of '44 in general. The scholastic average of this year's freshmen for the first semester was 76.3 as compared with the 75.4 of last year's class and whereas only 5 freshmen were forced to leave school at the end of last semester, 22 had to leave last year because of poor marks. The class of '44 has also been very much alive in its extra-curricular activities.

The scholastic average for the whole school has been rising in the last few years. According to Dr. Sackett this is due to one of two reasons: either we are attracting better students or those that are here are working harder.

LOADED CALENDAR

features of the Visual Education program will be an illustrated address on "The Wartime Use of Motion Pictures in Britain."

On May 10th the Connecticut Valley Political Science Association will hold its conference here. The principal speakers will be Wayne Heydecker, who will talk on the program of interstate compacts in New England, and Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation in Massachusetts, who is probably the greatest tax authority in the country. The latter's speech is titled "The Green Estate—an Adventure in Tax Jurisdiction." Governor and Mrs. Robert O. Blood will be guests at a tea served in the Alumni room, New Hampshire Hall, that afternoon.

Sunday, May 11, about 125 delegates from the Business and Professional Women's Clubs will convene for an all-district meeting. The following week on May 16 and 17 one of the biggest events celebrating the University's birthday will be held—an all-campus open house with demonstrations and exhibits in nearly every department. In conjunction with this Mother's Day will be celebrated on the 17th.

This covers only a small part of the things listed on the May calendar. But among other things watch for these, too: May 8, Student Council Convocation; May 9, the New England Association of College Teachers of Education, and the Y. M. C. A. State Group will be here; May 9-19, track meet; May 21, 22 and 23 Mask and Dagger produces "The Old Homestead;" May 27, we all participate in the song fest. Quite a list, isn't it?

Radio Group Ends Brilliant Season

Sid Dimond New Program Director as Mike Troupe Plans Future Broadcasts

With its recent election and broadcast, Mike and Dial brought to a climax another season of successful student radio work. Although handicapped by the ASCAP fight and the moving of the studio, the club succeeded in presenting a dozen hours of entertainment for campus studio listeners.

The set-up for the club next year may be slightly different since it will utilize the talent developed by Professor Cortez's new radio classes. Writing, announcing, and the other phases of broadcasting work will be encouraged and members of the course will receive credit for time spent in production. However, the club will continue to use students not connected with the course since it is impossible for all interested to arrange their schedules to include the new classes.

Officers Elected

Officers elected by the club at its last meeting are particularly equipped to lead the way. Program director Sid Dimond has been broadcasting for eight years over New England stations, including two in Boston. For six years he was the "old friend and neighbor" of a poetry and general chatter program heard every Sunday afternoon. A year ago Ted Malone of the National Broadcasting Company became interested and invited him to Radio City for a week. Sid went, enjoyed himself, and appeared as guest reader on Malone's "Between the Bookends" program. Now whenever the NBC man is in this vicinity the two get together.

Since last year the new program director has been writing "Headlines from a College Campus" heard over WHEB every Wednesday at 12:15. In collaboration with Jeannette Toohill he has written many of the scripts used on the air by the Mike and Dial club this year. What does he want to do when he gets out of college? You guessed it—he wants to go into radio work. Besides corresponding for Associated Press and the Boston Herald, Sid is a member of Phi Mu Delta.

Technical Director

Currently advocating a campus broadcasting system, Art Barrett is Mike and Dial's technical director. Art has charge of the sound effects department and makes sure that control man Lawrence Bacon twirls the right dials at the right time.

Business manager Alice Moran has participated in several broadcasts as director, actress, and writer. She is remembered for her brilliant portrayal of the lead in "The Adventures of Agatha," presented several weeks ago. Alice's job will consist of notifying members of meetings and auditions and keeping the club's records in order.
